

Educators arrested in sting operation

Kenyan police have arrested eight teachers and officials suspected of cheating at a school in Nyandarua County. This follows investigations by senior education officials and the detectives. The Nation reports that investigations revealed that one of the teachers took photographs of the examination papers with a mobile phone and distributed the images. 'We have impounded the cheating materials and arrested the suspects to serve as a lesson to others,' said police commissioner Boaz Cherutich.